WOUND HEALING & HYPERBARIC MEDICINE
Beebe Healthcare introduced hyperbaric oxygen therapy to its comprehensive wound care program in spring 2016. The program has moved to a new location and is now seeing patients under the name Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Medicine.

Hyperbaric oxygen therapy has been proven to increase oxygen concentration in the body, which helps fight bacteria, improve healing rates, and avoid loss of limbs in patients with diabetes, vascular disorders, or who have sustained serious trauma. Beebe has installed the BARA-MED “Select” hyperbaric chamber, which provides the most advanced and effective treatment available.

Since 1998, Beebe’s Wound Healing program has provided state-of-the-art wound care for our community.

For more information, go to www.beebehealthcare.org/wound-healing.

The types of wounds that can benefit from our Wound Healing program include:
- Non-healing
- Wounds Caused by Surgical Wounds
- Poor Circulation
- Traumatic Wounds
- Venous Stasis Ulcers
- Pressure Ulcers
- Minor Burns
- Diabetic Foot Ulcers

Please contact us for indications for hyperbaric oxygen therapy.
